

Tern eggs are often out on the open beach, but these were in the dunes with some protection. They were huge compared to the parent bird!